ons, particularly her relationships with the people around her. The other was complaining about someone she babysits for and how this person ner to be infinitely available. I tried suggesting some ways to deal with ion, but my daughter was having none of that. Apparently she preferred ing about the issue to actually resolving it. After several frustrating

You will want to create a tag to use for your portfolio items. In this case, I'm using "sampleportfolio"

Use the Notes box to add a description of the item.

2. In your del.cio.us bookmarks, find your portfolio tag.

When you find the appropriate tag, click on it.

3. Create "Tag Description"

del.cio.us / michelemmartin / sampleportfolio
your bookmarks | your network | subscriptions | links for you | post

Your items tagged sampleportfolio (create tag description) → view all, popular

Title: My Sample Portfolio

Description: This is where I can describe my portfolio. I have 1000 characters to do so.

925 characters remaining

Save Cancel

You can use the Tag Description to create a description of your portfolio. First, click on "Create Tag Description"

This will open up the Title and Description box. Then add a title for your portfolio and a description. You have 1000 characters for your description. Note that you may want to include contact information for yourself. You can also let people know that they can use the RSS subscription button at the bottom of your portfolio page to be automatically updated when you add items to your portfolio.

When you complete your description, click the "Save" button.

4. Bookmark and tag additional items to complete your portfolio.

Michele Martin's Del.icio.us Portfolio

I write and consult around using social media for learning, showing individuals and organizations how they can use tools like blogs, wikis, audio, video and RSS to support professional development. I blog at The Bamboo Project.

I've developed this portfolio to capture samples of my work in a central location and to demonstrate how del.icio.us can be used to create an online portfolio. Note that the items most recently bookmarked appear first. I've selected many of these because others have found value in them.

You can sign up to be automatically updated when I add new items to my portfolio using the RSS feed button at the bottom of this page.

As you create items to add to your portfolio, simply bookmark them, using your portfolio tag, and they will automatically be added to your del.icio.us portfolio, with the most recent items first.
